Based on the "Dungeons & Dragons" franchise created by Tracy Hickman and revised for fifth edition by Jason Bulmahn, the Elden Ring Activation Code is a fantasy action role-playing game that combines RPGs and multiplayer online battle arenas (MOBAs) and is set in an adventure-filled world between the continents of Valoran and Altus. The game is set in the Lands Between, a region that functions as an untamed wilderness between the two continents, with non-Elden Lords traveling and adventuring in the region. ABOUT DEXTEROUS SOFTWARE A studio founded by veterans of companies including Square Enix, Nihon Falcom, Atlas, Sega, and Capcom, Dextersoft is known for creating high-quality mobile and browser games featuring multimedia and original characters. ABOUT JAZZ Jazz was founded in 2001 as a game developer and operator that has developed a number of games on PCs, portable devices, consoles, and mobile platforms. The company is based in Japan and currently has more than 200 employees. For further information, please visit www.eldenring.com.

Q: Creating a commutative diagram in geometry I have created a commutative diagram in tikz. I have some points on the top but the main problem is that the y axis is too short to see them completely. I have tried to change the frame size and the height, but then it looks really ugly. I have two points p_1, p_2, q_1, q_2 and four lines: a_1, a_2, p_1q_1 and p_2q_2 . Any idea on how can I change the height of the commutative diagram so it would look neat? Here's my code: `\documentclass[a4paper,11pt]{article} \usepackage{tikz} \usetikzlibrary{decorations.pathreplacing} \usetikzlibrary{calc,arrows.meta, positioning} \usetikzlibrary{decorations.pathreplacing} \usetikzlibrary{decorations.pathreplacing} \usetikzlibrary{calc,arrows.meta, positioning} \usetikzlibrary{decorations.pathreplacing} \usetikzlibrary{decorations.pathreplacing} \begin{document} \begin{tikzpicture}[scale=0.7, >=latex] \draw[->] (-3,0) -- (9,0) node [right, inner sep=5mm] {L_1}; \draw[->] (0,0) -- (5,0) node [right, inner sep=5mm] {L_2}; \draw[->] (6,0) -- (8,0) node [right, inner sep=5mm] {L_3}; \draw[->] (-3.5,3.5) -- (9,3.5) node [right, inner sep=5mm] {\mathbb{R}^2}; \draw[->] (-2.5,0) -- (0,0) node [above, inner sep`

BOSS & MAP INFO

Elden Ring is the story of the unification of all races of the world to become powerful. The story is a little bit like a great drama. The main view points of this game are the story and adventure. The map design is large and endless.

ARENA INFO

Guild Raid Arena- Do you want to gain friends and become powerful? Or are you tired of your current environment. The Arena is a place where people gathered for the goal of gathering friends. Everyone competes for the goal of strengthening themselves and to become powerful.

GAMEPLAY

Elden Ring is the story of the unification of the races of the world, and the story is full of exciting battle scenes. Deep in a fantasy world full of unexplainable things is the inexhaustible wealth of ancient history. What has existed before the creation of the world and is the reason why this world exists. This world is very mysterious. At present, the world that the races of the man and races of the animal and races of the plant live in is a magical world. The unity between the races of the world is needed to the state in which it exists.

You live in a world where the various peoples coexist without mutual racism. There are seven races
